

CLASSIFIED FINANCIAL STATEMENT PRESENTATION

Under the current financial reporting model, proprietary funds often do not report a classified statement of position (i.e., statements of net position that distinguish current assets and liabilities from noncurrent assets and liabilities). The new financial reporting model will require that proprietary funds always present a classified statement of net position.